

- 3 -

Application No. 10/768,095
Amendment dated September 18, 2006
Reply to Office Action of May 23, 2006

Amendments To The Abstract:

Please replace the Abstract at present on file with the following new Abstract:

An electric unit, such as a room thermostat, has comprising a circuit board, and an electromechanical switch mounted to the said circuit board, a casing housing said The circuit board and said the electromechanical switch, are housed in a casing, said The casing being is filled with a sound insulation material with said the electromechanical switch being completely embedded in said the sound insulation material in order to dampen the click sound produced by the communication of the electromechanical switch.